Philosophy, Disability and Social Change 4 (#PhiDisSocCh4) comprises presentations by disabled philosophers whose cutting-edge research challenges members of the philosophical community to (1) think more critically about the metaphysical and epistemological status of disability; (2) closely examine how philosophy of disability is related to the tradition and discipline of philosophy; and (3) seriously consider how philosophy and philosophers contribute to the pervasive inequality and subordination that disabled people confront throughout society.

The conference program is provided below. All times shown are in GMT (UK afternoons). The conference will take place online. Captioning will be available.

Program

Day 1 Thursday 14 December

1:00-1:05 Welcome and Opening Remarks
Jonathan Wolff (Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford) and Shelley Tremain (BIOPOLITICAL PHILOSOPHY)

1:05-1:55 Session 1
Identifying Principles of Justice for Emancipatory Research with Autistics
Presenter: Amandine Catala (Université du Québec à Montréal)
Chair: Jonathan Wolff (Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford)

1:55-2:05 BREAK

2:05-2:55 Session 2
Podcasting as Disabled Praxis
Presenter: Élaina Gauthier-Mamaril (Aberdeen University)
Chair: Lori Gruen (Wesleyan University)

2:55-3:05 BREAK

3:05-3:55 Session 3
Welfarism for Thee, but Not for Me: Intergenerational Erasure and Building Addict and Mad Joy
Presenter: T. Virgil Murthy (Carnegie Mellon University)
Chair: Tracy Isaacs (Western University)
3:55-4:05 BREAK

4:05-6:00 Book Launch: The Bloomsbury Guide to Philosophy of Disability (Bloomsbury Academic)

Chair: Editor Shelley Lynn Tremain (BIOPOLITICAL PHILOSOPHY)

Participants: Authors Mich Ciurria (University of Missouri at St. Louis)

  - Tommy J. Curry (University of Edinburgh)
  - Emily R. Douglas (Vanier College/Athabasca University)
  - Gen Eickers (University of Bayreuth)
  - Lori Gruen (Wesleyan University)
  - Stephanie Jenkins (Oregon State University)
  - Sofia Jeppsson (Umeå University)
  - Corinne Lajoie (Pennsylvania State University)
  - Nathan Moore (Western University)
  - Andrea J. Pitts (University of Buffalo)
  - Joshua St. Pierre (University of Alberta)
  - Desiree Valentine (Marquette University)

Day 2 Friday 15 December

1:00-1:05 Welcome and Preliminary Remarks
Jonathan Wolff (Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford) and Shelley Tremain (BIOPOLITICAL PHILOSOPHY)

1:05-1:55 Session 1
Counting Disability Stories

Presenter: C. Dalrymple-Fraser (University of Toronto)

Chair: Jonathan Wolff (Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford)

1:55-2:05 BREAK
2:05-2:55 Session 2
Neoliberalism is an Ableism: On Human Capital and the Eugenic Commitment

Presenter: Will Conway (Stonybrook University)
Chair: Shelley Tremain (BIOPOLITICAL PHILOSOPHY)

2:55-3:05 BREAK

3:05-3:55 Session 3
Encountering Fat Denigration: Spatial Allowances and Victim Reversibility

Presenter: Kristin Rodier (Athabasca University)
Chair: August Gorman (Oakland University)

3:55-4:05 BREAK

4:05-6:00 Situating Disability: The Factors and Politics of Disability Exclusion in Philosophy and Beyond

Moderators: Melinda C. Hall (Stetson University) and Johnathan Flowers (California State University-Northridge)
Participants: Robert Chapman (University of Newcastle)
             Jane Dryden (Mount Allison University)
             Elvis Imafidon (SOAS)
             Julie E. Maybee (Lehman College, CUNY)
             Maeve McKeown (University of Groningen)